ANNOTATIONS

Reciprocal licensing. — If an applicant establishes under the board's uniform requirements for proving equivalence, that he or she has been duly licensed or certified as a psychologist by another state, and the other state has similar procedures for certifying a New Mexico psychologist, the state board of psychologist examiners may issue its certificate to that individual. 1969 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69-136.

Section does not require mutual reciprocity agreement between New Mexico and another state before New Mexico may issue a certificate to a psychologist duly licensed under the laws of that other state. 1969 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69-136.

All that this section requires is that the other state also provide in a similar manner for certification of an individual psychologist previously licensed in New Mexico. 1969 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69-136.

61-9-10.1. Provisional and temporary licensure. (Repealed effective July 1, 2028.)

A. A temporary license may be issued to an applicant previously licensed in another jurisdiction and in good standing whose out-of-state license meets current licensing criteria for New Mexico. A temporary license shall be valid for six months and is not subject to extension or renewal, unless a federal or state public health emergency is declared pursuant to the Public Health Emergency Response Act [Chapter 12, Article 10A NMSA 1978] and directly impacts the applicant; in which case, an applicant's temporary license shall be automatically extended for the duration of the public health emergency and for an additional six months, beginning on the day that the public health emergency ends.

B. The granting of a temporary license to the applicant does not include issuance of a conditional prescription certificate unless the board finds the applicant meets the requirements of Section 61-9-17.1 NMSA 1978.

C. A provisional license may be issued to an applicant never previously licensed and who does not meet New Mexico's experience requirements for psychology licensure, but who otherwise meets criteria for education and training. Reinstatement of an expired license or registration will require the licensee to reapply, submit all necessary documentation and meet all current standards for licensure.

E. A person licensed or registered under the Counseling and Therapy Practice Act who wishes to retire from practice shall notify the board in writing before the expiration of his current license or registration. If, within a period of five years from the year of retirement, the licensee or registrant wishes to resume practice, the licensee or registrant shall so notify the board in writing, and upon giving proof of completing such continuing education as prescribed by rule of the board and the payment of a renewal license fee and reinstatement fee, his license or registration shall be restored to him in full effect.

61-11-1.1. Legislative findings; purpose of act. (Repealed effective July 1, 2024.)

A. The legislature finds that the practice of pharmacy in New Mexico is a professional practice affecting the public health, safety and welfare and is subject to regulation and control in the public interest. The legislature finds further that it is a matter of public interest and concern that the practice of pharmacy as defined in the Pharmacy Act merit and receive the confidence of the public, and that only qualified persons be permitted to engage in the practice of pharmacy so that the quality of drugs and related devices distributed in New Mexico is ensured.

B. The purpose of the Pharmacy Act is to promote, preserve and protect the public health, safety and welfare by and through the effective control and regulation of the practice of pharmacy, including the licensure of pharmacists and pharmacist interns and registration of pharmacy technicians; the licensure, control and regulation of all sites or persons, in or out of state, who distribute, manufacture or sell drugs or devices used in the dispensing and administration of drugs in New Mexico; and the regulation and control of such other materials as may be used in the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of injury, illness or disease of a patient or other person.

ANNOTATIONS

Standard of care required of retail pharmacists in filling prescriptions for controlled substances.

— Where the personal representative of decedent's estate brought a lawsuit, asserting claims of negligence and negligence per se, against the pharmacy that dispensed certain Schedule II drugs to decedent, who died from an overdose of physician-prescribed medications, the district court erred in granting the pharmacy's motion for summary judgment, because the pharmacy's motion did not establish a prima facie case of entitlement to judgment as a matter of law as to the standard of care or the pharmacy's compliance with the standard, and even if the pharmacy had met that burden, plaintiff's expert affidavit sufficed to establish a genuine dispute of material fact concerning these material issues, and dismissal of the pharmacy from the case was improper because the motion did not demonstrate the pharmacy's entitlement to summary judgment on the separate claim of negligence per se. Oakey v. May Maple Pharmacy, Inc., 2017-NMCA-054, cert. denied.

"Supervision." — Term "immediate personal supervision," as used in this section, calls for close, direct supervision by a licensed practitioner of the healing arts. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 57-316 (rendered under prior law).

Holding self out as physical therapist. — Even without an appropriate title or set of initials, an individual could still be publicly professing to be a physical therapist. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 57-316.

Masseur. — Masseur who merely massaged other persons without professing to do so to relieve disease or pain did not come within the provisions of former licensing act, but when he held himself as being able to heal or cure diseases, he was subject to prosecution. 1941-42 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 41-3956; 1949-50 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 50-5275.

Violation of act. — While unlicensed individual might not be guilty of unprofessional conduct since he works for physicians on a prescription basis, his want of a license plus lack of knowledge of his activities by the orthopedic surgeon under whose control he ostensibly works, and lack of close, direct and personal supervision of such activities by any licensed practitioner, clearly indicates a lack of compliance with this act. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 57-316.

61-12D-13. Grounds for disciplinary action. (Repealed effective July 1, 2028.)

The following conduct, acts or conditions constitute grounds for disciplinary action:

- D. engaging in or permitting the performance of negligent care by a physical therapist or by assistive personnel working under the physical therapist's supervision, regardless of whether actual injury to the patient is established;
- E. engaging in the performance of negligent care by a physical therapist assistant, regardless of whether actual injury to the patient is established. This includes exceeding the authority to perform tasks pursuant to the plan of care written by the supervising physical therapist;
- F. having been convicted of a felony in the courts of this state or any other state, territory or country, subject to the Criminal Offender Employment Act [28-2-1 to 28-2-6 NMSA 1978]. Conviction includes a finding or verdict of guilt, an admission of guilt or a plea of nolo contendere. A copy of the record of conviction, certified by the clerk of the court entering the conviction, is conclusive evidence;

- H. having had a license revoked or suspended; other disciplinary action taken; or an application for licensure refused, revoked or suspended by the proper authorities of another state, territory or country based upon acts by the licensee similar to acts described in this section. A certified copy of the record of suspension, revocation or other disciplinary action taken by the state taking the disciplinary action is conclusive evidence;
- I. failing to adequately supervise assistive personnel;
- J. engaging in sexual misconduct, including engaging in or soliciting sexual relationships with a patient, whether consensual or nonconsensual, while a physical therapist- or physical therapist assistant-patient relationship exists; or sexual harassment of a patient that includes making sexual advances, requesting sexual favors and engaging in other verbal conduct or physical contact of a sexual nature while a physical therapist- or physical therapist assistant-patient relationship exists;
- K. directly or indirectly requesting, receiving or participating in the dividing, transferring, assigning, rebating or refunding of an unearned fee; or profiting by means of a credit or other valuable consideration such as an unearned commission, discount or gratuity in connection with the furnishing of physical therapy services. Nothing in this subsection prohibits the members of any regularly and properly organized business entity recognized by law and comprised of physical therapists from dividing fees received for professional services among themselves as they determine by contract necessary to defray their joint operating expense;
- L. failing to adhere to the recognized standards of ethics of the physical therapy profession;
- M. charging unreasonable or fraudulent fees for services performed or not performed;
- N. making misleading, deceptive, untrue or fraudulent representations in the practice of physical therapy;
- O. having been adjudged mentally incompetent by a court of competent jurisdiction;

- R. interfering with or refusing to cooperate in an investigation or disciplinary proceeding of the board, including misrepresentation of facts or by the use of threats or harassment against any patient or witness to prevent them from providing evidence in a disciplinary proceeding;

S. failing to maintain patient confidentiality without prior written consent or unless otherwise provided by law;

T. impersonating another person licensed to practice physical therapy, permitting or allowing any person to use the physical therapist's or physical therapist assistant's license or practicing physical therapy under a false or assumed name;

U. failure to report to the board the surrendering of a license or other authorization to practice physical therapy in another state or jurisdiction or the surrendering of membership in any professional association following, in lieu of or while under disciplinary investigation by any of those authorities or bodies for acts or conduct similar to acts or conduct that would constitute grounds for action as defined in this section; and

V. abandonment of patients.

The person is immune from civil liability for providing information in good faith to the board. Failure by a licensee to report a violation of the Physical Therapy Act shall constitute grounds for disciplinary action.

B. The board may permit an impaired physical therapist or assistive personnel to actively participate in a board-approved substance abuse treatment program under the following conditions:

(1) the board has evidence indicating that the licensee is an impaired professional;

(2) the licensee has not been convicted of a felony relating to a controlled substance in a court of law of the United States or any other territory or country;

(3) the impaired professional enters into a written agreement with the board and complies with all the terms of the agreement, including making satisfactory progress in the program and adhering to any limitations on his practice imposed by the board to protect the public. Failure to enter into such an agreement shall disqualify the professional from the voluntary substance abuse program; and

(4) as part of the agreement established between the licensee and the board, the licensee shall sign a waiver allowing the substance abuse program to release information to the board if the licensee does not comply with the requirements of this section or is unable to practice with reasonable skill or safety.

C. The public shall have access to information pursuant to the Inspection of Public Records Act [Chapter 14, Article 2 NMSA 1978].

D. The board shall conduct its meetings and disciplinary hearings in accordance with the Open Meetings Act [Chapter 10, Article 15 NMSA 1978].

all information relating to the receiving and investigation of complaints filed against licensees confidential until the information becomes public record according to the Inspection of Public Records Act.

K. Each licensee shall display a copy of his license and current renewal verification in a location accessible to public view at his place of practice.

In order to safeguard life, health and property and to promote public welfare, any person practicing architecture in this state shall be required to submit evidence that he is qualified to practice and shall be registered as provided in the Architectural Act [61-15-1.1 NMSA 1978]. It shall be unlawful for any person to practice architecture in this state unless that person is duly registered or exempt under the provisions of the Architectural Act.

Registration not required for licensed engineers. — Professional engineers licensed under 67-21-1 to 67-21-25, 1953 Comp. (now repealed). (now Section 61-23-1 NMSA 1978 et seq.), need not secure registration under this act. They are authorized to draw plans and construct buildings and to do many acts similar to those of registered architects. The two laws are similar, but need not be read together, since they are each for the purpose of regulating separate and distinct professions in which the actual practice calls for doing similar acts. 1939-40 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 39-3205 (rendered prior to enactment of Engineering and Land Surveying Practice Act).

History: 1978 Comp., § 61-15-1.1, enacted by Laws 1979, ch. 362, § 1; 1987, ch. 282, § 2.

Delayed repeals. — For delayed repeal of this section, see 61-15-13 NMSA 1978.

The 1987 amendment, effective June 19, 1987, substituted "Chapter 61, Article 15 NMSA 1978" for "Sections 61-15-1 through 61-15-12 NMSA 1978".

61-15-2. Definitions (Repealed effective July 1, 2024.)

As used in the Architectural Act [61-15-1.1 NMSA 1978]:

A. "architect" means any individual registered under the Architectural Act to practice architecture;

B. "architectural services" means the services, as defined by rule of the board, performed in the practice of architecture. These services include predesign services, programming and planning, providing designs, drawings, specifications, other technical submissions, administration of construction contracts, coordination of technical submissions prepared by others and such other professional services as may be necessary to the planning, progress and completion of any architectural services. An architect who has complied with all of the laws of New Mexico relating to the practice of architecture has a right to engage in the incidental practice of activities properly classifiable as engineering; provided that the architect does not hold himself out to be an engineer or as performing engineering services and further provided that the architect performs only that part of the work for which the architect is professionally qualified and uses qualified professional engineers, architects or others for those portions of the work in which the contracting architect is not qualified. Furthermore, the architect shall assume all responsibility for compliance with all laws, codes, rules and ordinances of the state or its political subdivisions pertaining to documents bearing an architect's professional seal;

C. "board" means the board of examiners for architects;

D. "construction administration", when performed by an architect, means the interpretation of the drawings and specifications, the establishment of standards of acceptable workmanship and the observation of construction to determine its consistency with the general intent of the construction documents. Inspection of buildings by contractors, subcontractors or building inspectors or their agents shall not constitute construction administration;

E. "incidental practice" means the performance of other professional services that are related to an architect's performance of architectural services;

F. "intern architect" means a person who is actively pursuing completion of the requirements for diversified training in accordance with rules of the board;

G. "practice of architecture" means rendering or offering to render architectural services in connection with the design, construction, enlargement or alteration of a building or group of buildings and the space within the site surrounding those buildings, which have as their principal purpose human occupancy or habitation. "Practice of architecture" does not include the practice of engineering as defined in the Engineering and Surveying Practice Act [61-23-1 NMSA 1978] but may include such engineering work as is incidental practice;

H. "project" means the building or group of buildings and the space within the site surrounding the buildings as defined by the construction documents; and

I. "responsible charge" means that all architectural services have been or will be performed under the direction, guidance and restraining power of a registered architect who has exercised professional judgment with respect thereto.

History: 1978 Comp., § 61-15-2, enacted by Laws 1979, ch. 362, § 2; 1987, ch. 282, § 3; 1999, ch. 263, § 1.

Delayed repeals. — For delayed repeal of this section, see 61-15-13 NMSA 1978.

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1979, ch. 362, § 2, repealed former 61-15-2 NMSA 1978, relating to definitions of "practice of architecture," "general administration of construction" and "building," and enacted a new 61-15-2 NMSA 1978.

The 1999 amendment, effective June 18, 1999, in Subsection B, inserted "as defined by rule of the board", substituted "predesign services, programming and planning, providing designs" for "planning, providing preliminary studies, designs", substituted "administration of construction contracts, coordination of technical submissions prepared by others and such" for "and the observation of construction for the purpose of assuring substantial compliance with drawings and specifications and include such" in the first sentence, deleted language allowing engineers to engage in activities properly classified as architecture insofar as it is incidental to work as an engineer, and added the language beginning "codes, rules and ordinances" at the end of the subsection; in Subsection D, substituted the term "construction administration" for the term "construction observation of a construction contract" twice and deleted "periodic" preceding "observation"; deleted former Subsection E, which defined "direct supervision"; added Subsections E, F, H and I, and redesignated former Subsection F as Subsection G; and in Subsection G, substituted "architectural services" for "any service which requires architectural education, training and experience" in the first sentence, and added the second sentence.

The 1987 amendment, effective June 19, 1987, alphabetized and relettered the subsections; rewrote Subsection B; in Subsection D substituted "construction observation of a construction contract" for "general administration of a construction contract" at the beginning, and added "when performed by a person engaged in the practice of architecture" to the end of the first sentence and added the second sentence; inserted Subsection E; and rewrote Subsection F.

ANNOTATIONS

Substantial compliance suffices. — Where an independent school district hires a registered and resident New Mexico architect to design and supervise the construction of a new junior high school and employs a firm of out-of-state architects and engineers and where the work is commenced and the architectural design, preliminary surveys and climate control is complete, the New Mexico architect dies, prior to the actual finalization of the plans, substantial compliance exists with the Architectural Act. The school district may construct the proposed project based upon the plans completed by the out-of-state firm. However, it must be emphasized that any further architectural services of any nature must be performed by a registered resident pursuant to Section 67-12-8 (now Section 61-15-9 NMSA 1978). 1965 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 65-07.

A. The state and its political subdivisions are not exempt from the requirements of the Architectural Act.

B. A person who is not an architect may prepare building plans and specifications, unless the building plans and specifications involve public safety or health, but the work shall be done only on:

(1) single-family dwellings not more than two stories in height;

(2) multiple dwellings not more than two stories in height containing not more than four dwelling units of wood-frame construction; provided that this paragraph shall not be construed to allow a person who is not registered under the Architectural Act to design multiple clusters of up to four dwelling units each to form apartment or condominium complexes where the total exceeds four dwelling units on any lawfully divided lot;

(3) garages or other structures not more than two stories in height that are appurtenant to buildings described in Paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection; or

(4) nonresidential buildings, as defined in applicable state or local building codes, unless the building code official having jurisdiction has found that the submission of plans, drawings, specifications or calculations prepared and designed by an architect or engineer licensed by the state is necessary to obtain compliance with minimum standards governing the preparation of building plans and specifications adopted by the construction industries division of the regulation and licensing department. The construction industries division shall set, by rule, minimum standards for preparation of building plans and specifications pursuant to this paragraph.

C. Nothing in the Architectural Act shall require the state or a political subdivision of the state to secure the services of an architect or engineer for a public work project that consists of repair, replacement or remodeling if the alteration does not affect structural or life safety features of a building and does not require the issuance of a building permit under any applicable code.

D. A New Mexico registered professional engineer who has complied with all the laws of New Mexico relating to the practice of engineering has a right to engage in the incidental practice, as defined by rule, of activities properly classified as architectural services; provided that the engineer does not make any representation as being an architect or as performing architectural services; and further provided that the engineer performs only that part of the work for which the engineer is professionally qualified and uses qualified professional engineers, architects or others for those portions of the work in which the contracting professional engineer is not qualified. ANNOTATIONS

Substantial compliance suffices. — Where an independent school district hires a registered and resident New Mexico architect to design and supervise the construction of a new junior high school and employs a firm of out-of-state architects and engineers and where the work is commenced and the architectural design, preliminary surveys and client control is complete, the New Mexico architect dies, prior to the actual finalization of the plans, substantial compliance exists with the Architectural Act. The school district may construct the proposed project based upon the plans completed by the out-of-state firm. However, it must be emphasized that any further architectural services of any nature must be performed by a registered resident of New Mexico pursuant to this section. 1965 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 65-07.

Unlicensed architect allowed on less than three-storied residence. — An individual, firm, or corporation may practice architecture without being registered, where the work is done on residences of less than three stories. 1933-34 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 33-560.

Licensed engineer not restricted. — A professional licensed engineer does not violate this section by drawing plans and constructing a building, since authority to do so is conferred upon him by law. 1939-40 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 39-3126 (rendered prior to enactment of Engineering and Land Surveying Practice Act).

Licensed engineers not affected. — Section 10 of Laws 1939, ch. 82 does not repeal the matter pertaining to engineers in 67-21-1 to 67-21-25, 1953 Comp. (now repealed) since these acts must be read separately, similar powers being conferred upon professional engineers as are granted to architects in this act. 1939-40 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 39-3205 (rendered prior to enactment of Engineering and Land Surveying Practice Act).

- (6) procuring, aiding or abetting any violation of the provisions of the Architectural Act or the rules adopted by the board.

C. If, after a disciplinary hearing conducted in accordance with the Uniform Licensing Act [Chapter 61, Article 1 NMSA 1978], the board determines that based on the evidence, a person committed a violation pursuant to the Architectural Act, the board, in addition to any other sanction, shall issue an order that imposes a civil penalty not to exceed seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500) for each violation on the person. In determining the amount of the civil penalty, the board shall consider:

Delayed repeals. — For delayed repeal, see 61-17A-25 NMSA 1978.

The 2022 amendment, effective May 18, 2022, provided that "department" means the regulation and licensing department, as used in the Barbers and Cosmetologists Act; and added a new Subsection D and redesignated former Subsections D through M as Subsections E through N, respectively.

2017 Multiple Amendments. — Laws 2017, ch. 108, § 1 and Laws 2017, ch. 112, § 3, both effective June 16, 2017, enacted different amendments to this section that can be reconciled. Pursuant to 12-1-8 NMSA 1978, Laws 2017, ch. 112, § 3, as the last act signed by the governor is set out above and incorporates both amendments.

The nature of the difference between the amendments is that Laws 2017, ch. 108, § 1, defined "eyebrow threading" and revised the definition of "establishment" to include "eyebrow threading" as used in the Barbers and Cosmetologists Act, and Laws 2017, ch. 112, § 3, defined "hairstylist" and revised the definitions of certain terms as used in the Barbers and Cosmetologists Act.

Laws 2017, ch. 112, § 3, effective June 16, 2017, defined "hairstylist" and revised the definitions of certain terms as used in the Barbers and Cosmetologists Act; in Subsection F, after "barbering", added "hairstyling"; added new Subsection H and redesignated the succeeding subsections accordingly; in Subsection K, after "cosmetology", deleted "or", and after "barbering", added

"or hairstyling"; and in Subsection L, after "barbering", added "hairstyling".

Laws 2017, ch. 108, § 1, effective June 16, 2017, defined "eyebrow threading" and revised the definition of "establishment" to include "eyebrow threading" as used in the Barbers and Cosmetologists Act; in Subsection F, after "barbering", added ", eyebrow threading"; and added new Subsection H and redesignated the succeeding subsections accordingly.

The 1997 amendment added Subsections E, I and K and redesignated former Subsections E to H accordingly, inserted "other than a student" near the beginning of Subsections D and H, rewrote Subsection G, and made minor stylistic changes throughout the section. Laws 1997, ch. 218 contains no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art. IV, § 23, is effective June 20, 1997, 90 days after adjournment of the legislature. See Volume 14 NMSA 1978 for "Adjournment Dates of Sessions of Legislature" table.

ANNOTATIONS

Board deemed state officers for venue purposes. — The former board of barber examiners was clothed by the legislature with powers and duties of statewide scope, the exercise of which involved some portion of the governmental power. Hence the board itself, as well as its component members, was a state officer for venue purposes. Tudesque v. N.M. State Bd. of Barber Examiners, 1958-NMSC-128, 65 N.M. 42, 331 P.2d 1104.

Fee not waivable. — A barber shop had to pay the establishment license fee in order to be a valid operation and the state board had no authority to waive the requirement that a shop pay the fee. 1951-52 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 51-5407 (rendered under former law).

Inspection fee not chargeable for relocation. — Inspection fee provision applied only to barber shops which were opening for business for the first time. It did not apply where mere location of shop was changed. 1937-38 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 37-1709 (rendered under former law).

Inspection fee chargeable for reopening. — The opening of a barber shop after it was closed for some years constituted the opening or establishment of such shop for which the inspection fee was payable under former Section 61-17-13 NMSA 1978. 1937-38 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 38-1974 (rendered under former law).

No fee chargeable for certificate transfer. — The board could pass a rule requiring a transfer of the annual establishment license mentioned in former Section 61-17-13 NMSA 1978 in the books of the board, or by an exchange of the certificate transferred for a new certificate issued in lieu of the old one and in the name of the vendee, but it could not make any charge for this transfer or exchange of license certificates, since former Section 61-17-13 NMSA 1978 did not authorize such a charge and the board could not, by rule, require the payment of charges not authorized by this section. 1939-40 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 39-3233 (rendered under former law).

Collection agency may not practice law directly.

— A collection agency engages in the unauthorized practice of law when it represents parties before judicial bodies, prepares pleadings, manages litigation, gives legal advice, renders services requiring legal skill, or prepares instruments which secure legal rights. State ex rel. Norvell v. Credit Bureau of Albuquerque, Inc., 1973-NMSC-087, 85 N.M. 521, 514 P.2d 40.

Collection agency may not practice law indirectly.

— Soliciting assignments of claims on a contingent fee basis and filing suit thereon on the same basis constitutes the practice of law. State ex rel. Norvell v. Credit Bureau of Albuquerque, Inc., 1973-NMSC-087, 85 N.M. 521, 514 P.2d 40.

Collection agency may not practice law by pro forma assignments. — Where the agency procures the assignment merely to facilitate filing suit, legal services are in effect offered; this is unauthorized practice. State ex rel. Norvell v. Credit Bureau of Albuquerque, Inc., 1973-NMSC-087, 85 N.M. 521, 514 P.2d 40.

Section 61-18A-26 NMSA 1978 does not authorize the practice of taking the assignment of debts from an underlying creditor on a contingency fee basis and the filing of a suit by the collection agency's own attorneys in the collection agency's own name. Kolker v. Duke City Collection Agency, 750 F. Supp. 468 (D.N.M. 1990).

Collection agency may not control litigation. — Where assignment is pro forma, the fact that the agency directs the litigation constitutes the unauthorized practice of law. State ex rel. Norvell v. Credit Bureau of Albuquerque, Inc., 1973-NMSC-087, 85 N.M. 521, 514 P.2d 40.

Collection agency may not practice law by procuring legal services. — A collection agency may solicit claims for collection, but it engages in the unauthorized practice of law when it holds out that it can procure or perform legal services in the collection process. 1974 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 74-28.

Creditor must select attorney freely. — If nonlitigation methods fail, the agency must refer the claim back to the creditor and must advise him to select an attorney of his own choice. For the agency to take a pro forma interest in the claim to enable it to file suit in its own name is to actually furnish legal services and as such is unauthorized. 1974 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 74-28.

Collection agency may not otherwise interfere with attorney-client relation. — If the creditor selects an attorney who is also an agency attorney, the agency may not control the litigation or interfere in any way with the attorney-client relationship; such control or interference constitutes the unauthorized practice of law. 1974 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 74-28.

Pro forma assignments. — This section does not authorize the practice of taking the assignment of debts from an underlying creditor on a contingency fee basis and the filing of a suit by the collection agency's own attorneys in the collection agency's own name. Kolker v. Duke City Collection Agency, 750 F. Supp. 468 (D.N.M. 1990).

Practice of law not authorized. — This section cannot authorize collection agencies to practice law by bringing suits on nominally assigned claims in state court, since the regulation of the practice of law is an exclusive prerogative of the New Mexico Supreme Court. Martinez v. Albuquerque Collection Servs., Inc., 867 F. Supp. 1495 (D.N.M. 1994).

History: Laws 1987, ch. 252, § 28; 1992, ch. 36, § 1.

The 1992 amendment, effective May 20, 1992, substituted "shall remit" for "must remit", inserted "and any amounts collected pursuant to Section 61-18A-28.1 NMSA 1978", and made a stylistic change.

61-18A-28.1. Additional collection from debtors.

A. Unless the agreement between the debtor and the creditor or the agreement between the collection agency and the creditor otherwise expressly prohibits, a collection agency may collect from the debtor an amount equal to the gross receipts tax and the local option gross receipts taxes, as those terms are defined in the Gross Receipts and Compensating Tax Act [7-9-1 NMSA 1978], imposed on the receipts of the collection agency that result from the collection of a debt from the debtor.

B. For purposes of this section, a collection agency does not mean a person who collects his own debts using a name other than his own which would indicate that a third person is collecting or attempting to collect such debts.

History: 1978 Comp., § 61-18A-28.1, enacted by Laws 1992, ch. 36, § 2.

The legislature declares that it is a matter of public safety, interest and concern that the practices of engineering and surveying merit and receive the confidence of the public and that only qualified persons be permitted to engage in the practices of engineering and surveying. In order to safeguard life, health and property and to promote the public welfare, any person in either public or private capacity practicing or offering to practice engineering or surveying shall be required to submit evidence that the person is qualified to so practice and shall be licensed as provided in the Engineering and Surveying Practice Act. It is unlawful for any person to practice, offer to practice, engage in the business, act in the capacity of, advertise or use in connection with the person's name or otherwise assume, use or advertise any title or description tending to convey the impression that the person is a professional, licensed engineer or surveyor unless that person is licensed or exempt under the provisions of the Engineering and Surveying Practice Act. A person who engages in the business or acts in the capacity of an engineer or surveyor in New Mexico, except as otherwise provided in Sections 61-23-22 and 61-23-27.10 NMSA 1978, with or without a New Mexico license, has thereby submitted to the jurisdiction of the state and to the administrative jurisdiction of the board and is subject to all penalties and remedies available for a violation of any provision of Chapter 61, Article 23 NMSA 1978. The practice of engineering or surveying shall be deemed a privilege granted by the board based on the qualifications of the individual as evidenced by the licensee's certificate, which shall not be transferable.

History: Laws 1987, ch. 336, § 2; 1993, ch. 218, § 2; 1999, ch. 259, § 1; 2003, ch. 233, § 1; 2017, ch. 42, § 1.

ANNOTATIONS

Broad interpretation of licensing act violated freedom of speech. — Where respondent, who was a hydrologist and a member of the board of directors of a conservancy district, investigated the use of demolition and construction waste as rip-rap in ditches and prepared and presented a report to the board of directors criticizing the conservancy district's use of the rip-rap to prevent erosion; respondent used a civil engineering mathematical formula to compare the conveyance capacity of ditches that had rip-rap with ditches that had sandy bottoms and asserted that the rip-rap reduced conveyance capacity, led to flooding and bank erosion that could lead to failure; respondent criticized the district's engineer who directed the use of the rip-rap; respondent reiterated multiple times that respondent was not an engineer and insisted that the district hire a registered engineer to review respondent's report and to address the issue; and petitioner determined that respondent had practiced engineering without a license, because respondent had applied engineering principles, equations and concepts to investigate and evaluate the flow of water in the district's ditches, the petitioner's broad interpretation and application of Section 61-23-23 NMSA 1978 violated respondent's right to freedom of speech. New Mexico Bd. of Licensure v. Turner, 2013-NMCA-067, 303 P.3d 875.

Enforcement advisory committees shall provide technical assistance to the board and its staff. The board shall select members from a list of volunteers submitting their resumes and letters of interest.

J. No action or other legal proceedings for damages shall be instituted against the board, a board member or an agent, an employee or a member of an advisory committee of the board for any act done in good faith and in the intended performance of any power or duty granted pursuant to the Engineering and Surveying Practice Act or for any neglect or default in the good faith performance or exercise of any such power or duty.

K. The board, in cooperation with the board of examiners for architects and the board of landscape architects, shall create a joint standing committee to be known as the "joint practice committee". In order to safeguard life, health and property and to promote the public welfare, the committee shall have as its purpose the promotion and development of the highest professional standards in design, planning and construction and the resolution of ambiguities concerning the professions. - (1) is of good moral character and lacks a history of dishonest or felonious acts; and
- (2) meets the education, experience and examination requirements of the board.

B. The board may refuse to grant a certificate on the ground that the applicant failed to satisfy the requirement of good moral character.

C. The education requirement for examination shall be a baccalaureate degree or its equivalent conferred by a college or university acceptable to the board, with thirty semester hours in accounting or the equivalent as determined by the board. The board shall prescribe the method of applying for the examination and the dissemination of scores, and it shall rely on the American institute of certified public accountants for the grading of the examination. The board may use all or any part of the uniform certified public accountant examination services of the national association of state boards of accountancy to perform administrative services with respect to the examination. The board or its designee shall report all eligibility and score data to the national candidate database, and it shall, to the extent possible, provide that the passing scores are uniform with passing scores of other states.

E. An applicant must pass all sections of the examination to qualify for a certificate. A passing scaled score for each section shall be seventy-five. Sections may be taken individually and in any order. This experience shall include providing service or advice involving the use of accounting, attest, management advisory, financial advisory, tax or consulting skills as verified by a certified public accountant who meets requirements prescribed by the board. The 2013 amendment, effective June 14, 2013, clarified the prohibited activities; in the first sentence, after "engage in the business", added "or", and after "act in the capacity of", deleted "advertise or display in any manner or otherwise assume to engage in the business of, or act as an", added "real estate" and in the second sentence, after "with or without a New Mexico" added "real estate broker's".

The 2005 amendment, effective January 1, 2006, prohibits a person from engaging in business or acting as an associate broker or a qualifying broker without a license.

The 2001 amendment, effective July 1, 2001, substituted "a person to engage" for "any person, business association or corporation to engage"; deleted "real estate" preceding "broker"; deleted "New Mexico real estate" preceding "commission"; and added the last sentence of the subsection.

Brokerage can encompass sale of interest in real estate contract. — Commission had jurisdiction over real estate broker's sale of an interest in a real estate contract since broker was a real estate broker as defined in Section 61-29-2A(4) NMSA 1978 and represented himself as such and acted in that capacity. Elliott v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-078, 103 N.M. 273, 705 P.2d 679.

Payment of a finder's fee to an unlicensed real estate broker prohibited. — Where a Chapter 7 trustee filed a motion to sell debtors' house, and where the terms of the proposed sale included a proposed finder's fee for creditor, an unlicensed real estate broker who introduced the buyers of the house to the trustee, the proposed finder's fee was prohibited by this section, because the creditor, as an unlicensed broker in New Mexico, may not collect a finder's fee or any other compensation from the sale of real estate. In re Waggoner, 605 B.R. 222 (Bankr. D. N.M. 2019).

Generally, as to advertisements violating section. — It is a violation of this section for a person, business firm or corporation to advertise the disposition of real estate using the terms "Real Estate Agency," "Realty," "Agency" or "Broker" without first being licensed as a real estate broker as is defined in Section 61-29-2 NMSA 1978. It is not really important whether or not the person, business firm or corporation doing the advertising uses the terms "Real Estate Agency," "Realty," "Agency" or "Broker." The real question is: have they advertised themselves as offering a service which comes within the definition of a real estate broker and a real estate salesman? 1966 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 66-16.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, defined "auctioneer" as used in Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978, and exempted an auctioneer working under the control of a qualifying broker from the licensure requirements, and provided requirements for the agreement between the auctioneer and the qualifying broker; in Subsection A, added new Paragraph A(4) and redesignated former Paragraphs A(4) through A(16) as Paragraphs A(5) through A(17), respectively; in Subsection B, after the first occurrence of "Paragraph", deleted "(14)" and added "(15)"; and in Subsection C, added new Paragraph C(9).

The 2014 amendment, effective May 21, 2014, added definitions of "commercial real estate", "foreign broker", and "nonresident licensee" to provide for foreign brokers acting as qualifying or associate brokers with respect to commercial real estate; and in Subsection A, added Paragraphs (7), (10) and (13).

The 2013 amendment, effective June 14, 2013, changed the definition of "associate broker" and added the definition of "qualifying broker"; in Paragraph (3) of Subsection A, in the introductory sentence, after "qualifying broker", deleted "to participate in an activity described in Paragraph (4) of this subsection or"; added Subparagraphs (a) through (e) of Paragraph (3) of Subsection A; deleted former Paragraph (4) of Subsection A, which defined "broker" and "qualifying broker"; in Paragraph (6) of Subsection A, after "means a", deleted "buyer, seller, landlord or tenant" and added "person"; in Paragraph (8) of Subsection A, after "means a", deleted "buyer, seller, landlord or tenant" and added "person"; added Paragraph (11) of Subsection A; deleted former Paragraph (13) of Subsection A, which defined "real estate salesperson"; and in Paragraph (2) of Subsection C, after "property and the investments", deleted "except when the sale or offering for sale of the property constitutes a subdivision containing one hundred or more parcels".

ANNOTATIONS

Texas broker was acting as a broker in New Mexico. — Where plaintiff, who was a licensed real estate broker in Texas, agreed to buy a ranch in New Mexico and the owners agreed to pay plaintiff a six percent commission; defendants, who were licensed brokers in New Mexico, assisted plaintiff conduct due diligence in connection with the purchase of the ranch; plaintiff and defendants subsequently agreed that if defendants found a third-party purchaser of the ranch, that plaintiff would not buy the ranch and plaintiff and defendants would share the sales commission; defendants told plaintiff about a possible buyer of the ranch and plaintiff directed defendants to contact the owner of the ranch about the prospective buyer; the ranch was not listed for sale; and the only way defendants knew the ranch was for sale was through their contact with plaintiff, plaintiff was a broker within the meaning of Section 61-29-2 NMSA 1978 because plaintiff was a finder or middleman who brought the ranch owner and the buyer together with the assistance of defendants. PC Carter Co. v. Miller, 2011-NMCA-052, 149 N.M. 660, 253 P.3d 950.

Broker buying or selling property for himself. — The commission lacks jurisdiction over a real estate broker who is buying or selling property for himself, unless he holds himself out as a broker. Vihstadt v. Real Estate Comm'n, 1988-NMSC-003, 106 N.M. 641, 748 P.2d 14.

Burden on broker when acting for himself. — A licensed broker has the burden of showing that there is no possibility of misunderstanding or confusion as to his status when he purports to act for himself. Poorbaugh v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n, 1978-NMSC-033, 91 N.M. 622, 578 P.2d 323.

Hiring of note broker for sale of real estate contract. — Because the seller of a real estate contract, who hired a note broker to handle the sale, was not acting as a real estate broker during the sale, the commission lacked jurisdiction to revoke the seller's license for misrepresentation. Vihstadt v. Real Estate Comm'n, 1988-NMSC-003, 106 N.M. 641, 748 P.2d 14.

Whether landowner made representation as to being real estate broker is factual determination to be made by the trier of fact. Poorbaugh v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n, 1978-NMSC-033, 91 N.M. 622, 578 P.2d 323.

Fiduciary duties of salesperson extended to broker. — Because a real estate salesperson must work under a broker, when a principal buyer or seller engages a real estate salesperson as an agent, the principal also engages the salesperson's qualifying broker as an agent, thus extending the fiduciary duty owed to the principal buyer or seller up the salesperson's chain of command to the broker. Although agency fiduciary obligations and liabilities may extend from a salesperson to the qualifying broker, the fiduciary duties of one real estate salesperson are not attributable to another salesperson operating under the same qualifying broker unless one salesperson is at fault in appointing, supervising or cooperating with the other. Moser v. Bertram, 1993-NMSC-040, 115 N.M. 766, 858 P.2d 854.

Broker status not changed by power of attorney. — Where a real estate broker entered into a real estate transaction as a broker, he was not exempt from the jurisdiction of the commission under the "attorney in fact" exception in Subsection D (now C(4)), even though he was given the power of attorney to enable him to complete the transaction without the owners being present. Elliott v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-078, 103 N.M. 273, 705 P.2d 679.

Activities not excepted. — Activities did not fall within exception provided for in Subsection D (now

C). Bosque Farms Home Ctr., Inc. v. Tabet Lumber Co., 1988-NMSC-027, 107 N.M. 115, 753 P.2d 894.

No license required for arranging investments. — Arranging investments in real estate contracts is not a transaction for which a real estate broker's or salesperson's license is required. Garcia v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n., 1989-NMCA-034, 108 N.M. 591, 775 P.2d 1308, cert. denied, 108 N.M. 624, 776 P.2d 846.

Broker to supervise salespeople. — This section and Section 61-29-11 NMSA 1978 express a clear legislative mandate that brokers, as the persons principally responsible to the public, actually be in a position to supervise the actions of their salespeople. At the same time, the statutes do not require the broker himself to engage in business full-time. 1980 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 80-22.

The exemption contained in Subsection D (now C(4)) applies only to those persons holding the power of attorney and who are not engaged in business as real estate brokers. 1965 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 65-122.

Criminal Offender Employment Act to be followed in suspension or revocation action. — The provisions of the Criminal Offender Employment Act must be followed by the real estate commission in any action by the commission to suspend or revoke a broker's or Cross references. — For Uniform Licensing Act, see 61-1-1 NMSA 1978.

The 2022 amendment, effective May 18, 2022, clarified that the New Mexico real estate commission is required to follow the provisions of the State Rules Act when promulgating rules; and after "power and authority to", deleted "make" and added "promulgate rules in accordance with the State Rules Act", and deleted "Prior to a final action on a proposed change or amendment to the rules of the commission, the commission may publish notice of the proposed action in its official publication, distribute the publication to each active licensee and give the time and place for a public hearing on the proposed changes. The 2001 amendment, effective July 1, 2001, in Subsection A, deleted "New Mexico real estate" preceding "commission"; deleted "or has his place of business" following "resides" in Paragraph (1); in Paragraph (2), substituted "triennial" for "annual", deleted "which shall not be refunded in any event" from the end of the paragraph; in Subsection B, substituted "approved by" for "prepared by or under the supervision of" in the first sentence; removed the distinction between examinations for brokers and those for salesmen and deleted provisions that only applied to one examination or the other; in Subsection C, deleted "either as a broker or salesman" following "real estate business", inserted "approved" preceding "examination"; in Subsection E, substituted "brokers or salespersons" for "real estate brokers or salesmen" in two places, and substituted "activities authorized pursuant to" for "enabled under the provisions of" in the last sentence.

ANNOTATIONS

License required to sue for commission. — A person who simply brings two parties together in a real estate transaction must be licensed to sue for the recovery of a commission. To rule otherwise would be to violate the clear intent of the legislature in requiring that real estate "brokers" or salespersons be licensed. Watts v. Andrews, 1982-NMSC-080, 98 N.M. 404, 649 P.2d 472.

Apprenticeship not necessary. — There is nothing in this article requiring that an apprenticeship be served before an applicant can apply for a broker's license; to the contrary, this section specifically sets out the means to be used by the commission in determining applicant's reputation and competency. 1963-64 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 63-110.

Relicensing of out-of-state broker returning to state. — An individual who has been licensed as a resident real estate broker in the state of New Mexico, and who has established a residence in another state or country may subsequently return to New Mexico and be relicensed as a real estate broker upon payment of the necessary fee and filing of the required bond and meeting any other needed requirements without applying for and taking a broker's examination as required of applicants who have not previously been licensed as real estate brokers, provided that the real estate board in its discretion desires to waive the examination. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 58-186.

61-29-10.1. Brokerage relationships; creation.

A. For all regulated real estate transactions first executed on or after January 1, 2000, no agency relationship between a buyer, seller, landlord or tenant and a brokerage shall exist unless the buyer, seller, landlord or tenant and the brokerage agree, in writing, to the agency relationship. No type of agency relationship may be assumed by a buyer, seller, landlord, tenant or licensee, or created orally or by implication.

B. A brokerage may provide real estate services to a client pursuant to an express written agreement that does not create an agency relationship and no agency duties will be imposed on the brokerage.

C. A brokerage may provide real estate services to a customer without entering into an express written agreement and without creating an agency relationship and no agency duties will be imposed on the brokerage.

D. The commission shall promulgate rules governing the rights of clients or customers and the rights, responsibilities and duties of a brokerage in those brokerage relationships that are subject to the jurisdiction of the commission.

History: Laws 1999, ch. 127, § 2; 2003, ch. 36, § 2.

The 2003 amendment, effective January 1, 2004, inserted present Subsections B and C and redesignated former Subsection B as present Subsection D; in present Subsection D deleted "and responsibilities" following

"governing the rights" near the beginning and substituted "a brokerage in those brokerage relationships that are subject to the jurisdiction of the commission" for "the brokerage in an agency relationship" at the end.

61-29-10.2. Licensee's duties; disclosure.

A. Prior to the time a licensee generates or presents any written document that has the potential to become an express written agreement, the licensee shall give to a prospective buyer, seller, landlord or tenant a list of the licensee's duties that are in accordance with requirements established by the commission.

B. Licensees shall perform all duties that are established for licensees by the commission.

History: Laws 1999, ch. 127, § 3; 2003, ch. 36, § 3; 2005, ch. 35, § 12.

The 2005 amendment, effective January 1, 2006, provides that prior to the time a licensee prepares or presents a document that will be a written agreement, the licensee must provide a list of the licensee's duties.

The 2003 amendment, effective January 1, 2004, substituted "Licensee's Duties - Disclosure" for "Brokerage Relationship; Disclosure" in the heading; designated the former first paragraph as Subsection A and added Subsection B; and substituted "at the time when the parties enter into an express written agreement, a list of the licensee's duties that are in accordance with requirements established by the commission" for "at the first substantive contact a brokerage relationship disclosure in accordance with requirements established by the commission" at the end of Subsection A.

61-29-10.3. Repealed.

Repeals. — Laws 2003, ch. 36, § 4 repealed 61-29-10.3, as enacted by Laws 1999, ch. 127, § 4, relating to brokerage nonagency relationships, effective January 1, 2004.

For provisions of former section, see the 2002 NMSA 1978 on NMOneSource.com.

61-29-11. Issuance, renewal and surrender of licenses.

A. The commission shall issue to each qualified applicant a license in the form and size prescribed by the commission.

B. The license shall show the name and address of the licensee. An associate broker's license shall show the name of the qualifying broker by whom the associate broker is engaged. The commission shall deliver or mail the license of the associate broker to the qualifying broker by whom the associate broker is engaged, and the qualifying broker shall display the license at the brokerage from which the associate broker will be conducting real estate business on behalf of the brokerage. The license of the associate broker shall remain in the custody and control of the qualifying broker as long as the associate broker is engaged by that qualifying broker.

C. Any qualifying broker's or associate broker's license suspended or revoked by an order, stipulated agreement or settlement agreement approved by the commission shall be surrendered to the commission by the broker upon the delivery of the order to the broker by the commission, or on the effective date of the order. All real-estate-related activity conducted under such license shall cease for the duration of the license suspension or revocation, and any associate broker licenses hanging with a qualifying broker whose license is suspended or revoked shall be automatically placed on inactive status until a new qualifying broker or a qualifying broker in charge is designated.

D. Every license shall be renewed every three years on or before the last day of the month following the licensee's month of birth. Upon written request for renewal by the licensee, the commission shall certify renewal of a license if there is no reason or condition that might warrant the refusal of the renewal of a license. The licensee shall provide proof of compliance with continuing education requirements and pay the renewal fee. If a licensee has not made application for renewal of license, furnished proof of compliance with continuing education requirements and paid the renewal fee by the license renewal date, the license shall expire. The commission may require a person whose license has expired to apply for a license as if the person had not been previously licensed under Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 and further require that the person be reexamined. The commission shall require a person whose license has expired to pay when the person applies for a license, in addition to any other fee, a late fee. If during a period of one year from the date the license expires the person or the person's spouse is either absent from this state on active duty military service or the person is suffering from an illness or injury of such severity that the person is physically or mentally incapable of making application for a license, payment of the late fee and reexamination shall not be required by the commission if, within three months of the person's permanent return to this state or sufficient recovery from illness or injury to allow the person to make an application, the person makes application to the commission for a license. A copy of that person's or that person's spouse's military orders or a certificate from the applicant's physician shall accompany the application. A person excused by reason of active duty military service, illness or injury as provided for in this subsection may make application for a license without imposition of the late fee. All fees collected pursuant to this subsection shall be disposed of in accordance with the provisions of Section 61-29-8 NMSA 1978. The revocation of a qualifying broker's license automatically suspends every associate broker's license granted to any person by virtue of association with the qualifying broker whose license has been revoked, pending a change of qualifying broker. Upon the naming of a new qualifying broker, the suspended license shall be reactivated without charge if granted during the three-year renewal cycle.

E. A qualifying broker shall conduct brokerage business under the trade name and from the brokerage address registered with the commission. Every brokerage shall have a qualifying broker in charge. The license of the qualifying broker and each associate broker associated with that qualifying broker shall be prominently displayed in each brokerage office. The address of the office shall be designated in the qualifying broker's license, and a license issued shall not authorize the licensee to transact real estate business at any other address. In case of removal from the designated address, the licensee shall make application to the commission before the removal or within ten days thereafter, designating the new location of the licensee's office and paying the required fee, whereupon the commission shall issue a license for the new location if the new location complies with the terms of Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978. A qualifying broker shall maintain a sign at the brokerage office of such size and content as the commission prescribes.

F. When an associate broker is discharged or terminates association or employment with the qualifying broker with whom the associate broker is associated, the qualifying broker shall deliver or mail the associate broker's license to the commission within forty-eight hours. The commission shall hold the license on inactive status. It is unlawful for an associate broker to perform any of the acts authorized by Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 either directly or indirectly under authority of an inactive license after the associate broker's association with a qualifying broker has been terminated and the associate broker's license has been returned to the commission until the appropriate fee has been paid and the license has been reissued and reactivated by the commission.

History: 1953 Comp., § 67-24-28, enacted by Laws 1959, ch. 226, § 10; 1965, ch. 304, § 6; 1977, ch. 295, § 3; 1979, ch. 94, § 3; 1980, ch. 82, § 11; 1981, ch. 22, § 2; 1983, ch. 261, § 4; 1985, ch. 89, § 2; 1987, ch. 90, § 4; 1993, ch. 253, § 2; 1995, ch. 143, § 2; 2001, ch. 163, § 7; 2003, ch. 22, § 5; 2005, ch. 35, § 13; 2013, ch. 167, § 6.

The 2013 amendment, effective June 14, 2013, provided for the surrender of suspended and revoked licenses; and added Subsection C.

The 2005 amendment, effective January 1, 2006, requires that an associate broker's license show the name of the qualifying broker by whom the associate broker is engaged; requires the real estate commission to send the associate broker's license to the qualifying broker by which the associate broker is engaged; requires the qualifying broker to display the associate broker's license at the brokerage; provides that the associate broker's license remains in the custody of the qualifying broker as long as the associate broker is engaged by the qualifying broker; provides that the revocation of a qualifying broker's license suspends the license of every associate broker engaged by the qualifying broker; requires qualifying brokers to conduct brokerage business under the trade name and at the address registered with the real estate commission; requires that the qualifying broker's license and the licenses of associate brokers be displayed at the brokerage office; and provides that if an associate broker ceases to be engaged by the qualifying broker, the qualifying broker must send the associate broker's license to the real estate commission to be held in inactive status.

The 2003 amendment, effective June 20, 2003, in Subsection C, deleted "of one hundred dollars ($100)" at the end of the sixth sentence; in Subsection D, substituted "within this state a fixed office that conforms" for "a fixed office within this state which shall be so located as to conform" following "broker shall maintain" near the beginning of the first sentence, and inserted "real estate" preceding "salesperson" near the middle of the third sentence.

The 2001 amendment, effective July 1, 2001, deleted "permanent" preceding "license" in Subsection A; in Subsection B, deleted "real estate" preceding "broker" in two places; in Subsection C, substituted the reactivation provision and conditions thereto for suspended licenses for the provision that a new license will be issued in the event that the real estate salesperson's license is suspended, and will be free if re-issued in the same year it was granted; in Subsection D, deleted "under Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978" following "operated by a licensed broker", inserted "who is a natural person", deleted "or under contract to" following "associated with", deleted "except a licensed branch office" following "any other address", in Subsection E, deleted "immediately" preceding "deliver" and inserted "within forty-eight hours" in the first sentence, substituted "an inactive license" for "such license" in the second sentence; and deleted Subsection F, concerning the renewal of licenses within a certain time period in order to coordinate certain requirements.

The 1995 amendment, effective July 1, 1995, in Subsection C, rewrote the first sentence which read "Every license shall be subject to annual renewal on the last day of the licensee's month of birth", made a related change in the third sentence, and deleted "annual" and "annually" preceding "renewal" throughout the subsection; made a stylistic change in Subsection D; and added Subsection F.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, inserted "or his spouse" and "the person" preceding "is suffering" in the sixth sentence and substituted "that person or his spouse's" for "the person's" in the seventh sentence, in Subsection C; deleted "for cancellation" from the end of the first sentence, inserted the second sentence, and substituted "to the commission" for "for a cancellation" in the last sentence, in Subsection E; and made stylistic changes in Subsections C and D.

ANNOTATIONS

Fiduciary duties of salesperson extended to broker. — Because a real estate salesperson must work under a broker, when a principal buyer or seller engages a real estate salesperson as an agent, the principal also engages the salesperson's qualifying broker as an agent, thus extending the fiduciary duty owed to the principal buyer or seller up the salesperson's chain of command to the broker. Although agency fiduciary obligations and liabilities may extend from a salesperson to the qualifying broker, the fiduciary duties of one real estate salesperson are not attributable to another salesperson operating under the same qualifying broker unless one salesperson is at fault in appointing, supervising or cooperating with the other. Moser v. Bertram, 1993-NMSC-040, 115 N.M. 766, 858 P.2d 854.

Brokers must supervise their salespeople. — Section 61-29-2 NMSA 1978 and this section express a clear legislative mandate that brokers, the persons principally responsible to the public, actually be in a position to supervise the actions of their salespeople. At the same time, the statutes do not require the broker himself to engage in business full-time. 1980 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 80-22.

Relicensing of out-of-state broker returning to state. — An individual who has been licensed as a resident real estate broker in the state of New Mexico, and who has established a residence in another state or country may subsequently return to New Mexico and be relicensed as a real estate broker upon payment of the necessary fee and filing of the required bond and meeting any other needed requirements without applying for and taking a broker's examination as required of applicants who have not previously been licensed as real estate brokers, provided that the real estate board in its discretion desires to waive the examination. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 58-186.

61-29-12. Refusal, suspension or revocation of license for causes enumerated.

A. In accordance with the Uniform Licensing Act [Chapter 61, Article 1 NMSA 1978], the commission may refuse to issue a license or may suspend, revoke, limit or condition a license if the applicant or licensee has, by false or fraudulent representations, obtained a license or, in performing or attempting to perform any of the actions specified in Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978, an applicant or licensee has:

- (1) made a substantial misrepresentation;
- (2) pursued a continued and flagrant course of misrepresentation; made false promises through agents, salespersons, advertising or otherwise; or used any trade name or insignia of membership in any real estate organization of which the licensee is not a member;
- (3) paid or received a rebate, profit, compensation or commission to or from any unlicensed person, except the licensee's principal or other party to the transaction, and then only with that principal's written consent;
- (4) represented or attempted to represent a qualifying broker other than a qualifying broker with whom the licensee is associated without the express knowledge and consent of that qualifying broker;
- (5) failed, within a reasonable time, to account for or to remit any money coming into the licensee's possession that belongs to others, commingled funds of others with the licensee's own or failed to keep funds of others in an escrow or trustee account or failed to furnish legible copies of all listing and sales contracts to all parties executing them;
- (6) been convicted in any court of competent jurisdiction of a felony or any offense involving moral turpitude;
- (7) employed or compensated, directly or indirectly, a person for performing any of the acts regulated by Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 who is not a licensed qualifying broker or an associate broker; provided, however, that a qualifying broker may pay a commission to a qualifying broker of another state as provided in Section 61-29-16.1 NMSA 1978;
- (8) failed, if a qualifying broker, to place as soon after receipt as is practicably possible, after securing signatures of all parties to the transaction, any deposit money or other money received by the qualifying broker in a real estate transaction in a custodial, trust or escrow account, maintained by the qualifying broker in a bank or savings and loan institution or title company authorized to do business in this state, in which the funds shall be kept until the transaction is consummated or otherwise terminated, at which time a full accounting of the funds shall be made by the qualifying broker. Records relative to the deposit, maintenance and withdrawal of the funds shall contain information as may be prescribed by the rules of the commission. Nothing in this paragraph prohibits a qualifying broker from depositing nontrust funds in an amount not to exceed the required minimum balance in each trust account so as to meet the minimum balance requirements of the bank necessary to maintain the account and avoid charges. The minimum balance deposit shall not be considered commingling and shall not be subject to levy, attachment or garnishment. This paragraph does not prohibit a qualifying broker from depositing any deposit money or other money received by the qualifying broker in a real estate transaction with another cooperating broker who shall in turn comply with this paragraph;
- (9) failed, if an associate broker, to place as soon after receipt as is practicably possible in the custody of the associate broker's qualifying broker, after securing signatures of all parties to the transaction, any deposit money or other money entrusted to the associate broker by any person dealing with the associate broker as the representative of the qualifying broker;
- (10) violated a provision of Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 or a rule promulgated by the commission;

(11) committed an act, whether of the same or different character from that specified in this subsection, that is related to dealings as a qualifying broker or an associate broker and that constitutes or demonstrates bad faith, incompetency, untrustworthiness, impropriety, fraud, dishonesty, negligence or any unlawful act; or

(12) been the subject of disciplinary action as a licensee while licensed to practice real estate in another jurisdiction, territory or possession of the United States or another country.

B. An unlawful act or violation of Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 by an associate broker, employee, partner or associate of a qualifying broker shall not be cause for the revocation of a license of the qualifying broker unless it appears to the satisfaction of the commission that the qualifying broker had guilty knowledge of the unlawful act or violation.

History: 1953 Comp., § 67-24-29, enacted by Laws 1959, ch. 226, § 11; 1965, ch. 304, § 7; 1981, ch. 22, § 3; 1983, ch. 261, § 5; 1984, ch. 56, § 1; 1987, ch. 90, § 5; 1991, ch. 13, § 1; 2001, ch. 163, § 8; 2005, ch. 35, § 14; 2011, ch. 85, § 6; 2022, ch. 39, § 97.

The 2022 amendment, effective May 18, 2022, clarified that the New Mexico real estate commission is required to follow the provisions of the Uniform Licensing Act for disciplinary matters; and in Subsection A, added "In accordance with the Uniform Licensing Act".

The 2011 amendment, effective July 1 2011, permitted the payment of a commission to a qualified broker or another state if, pursuant to Section 61-29-16.1 NMSA 1978, the nonresident broker has entered in to a transaction-specific contract with a resident broker and has consented to being sued in New Mexico.

The 2005 amendment, effective January 1, 2006, permits the real estate commission to issue license with limitations or conditions if the applicant or licensee has obtained a license by false or fraudulent representations or performed or attempted to perform the prescribed acts specified in this section and provides that an unlawful act or violation of Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 by an associate broker is not cause for revocation of a qualifying broker's license unless the qualifying broker had guilty knowledge of the act.

The 2001 amendment, effective July 1, 2001, inserted the Subsection A and B designations and redesignated former Subsections A to K as Paragraphs A(1) to A(11); deleted "real estate" preceding "broker" throughout the section; in Subsection A, substituted "refuse to issue or may suspend" for "refuse a license for cause or suspend", and "an applicant or licensee has:" for "is deemed to be guilty of:" in the introductory language; substituted "with whom he is associated" for "with whom he is licensed" in Paragraph (4); inserted "after securing signatures of all parties to the transaction" in Paragraphs (8) and (9); deleted "in the interests of the public and in conformance with the provisions of Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978" from the end of Paragraph (10); substituted "committed an act" for "any other conduct" in Paragraph (11); and added Paragraph (12).

The 1991 amendment, effective June 14, 1991, substituted "in Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978" for "herein" in the introductory paragraph; substituted the language beginning with "unlicensed person" for "person other than his principal" at the end of Subsection C; and made minor stylistic changes in Subsections E and K.

ANNOTATIONS

Revocation for "substantial misrepresentations". — The commission may suspend a license on the grounds that the licensee misrepresented to prospective buyers both the size of the property in question and the age of the roof. Wolfley v. Real Estate Comm'n, 1983-NMSC-064, 100 N.M. 187, 668 P.2d 303.

If the subjects of misrepresentations on application forms are material, i.e., "substantial misrepresentations", the real estate commission can, absent intervening equities, revoke the license even though there is no actual or intentional fraud. Padilla v. Real Estate Comm'n, 1987-NMSC-056, 106 N.M. 96, 739 P.2d 965.

The test of whether a misrepresentation is substantial is if it operates as an inducement to the real estate commission to do that which it should not otherwise have done. Padilla v. Real Estate Comm'n, 1987-NMSC-056, 106 N.M. 96, 739 P.2d 965.

Where a license to sell real estate was revoked for false or fraudulent representations in applications with respect to unpaid liens or judgments, but the real estate commission's findings and conclusions did not resolve in any meaningful way whether licensee intended to deceive and to induce the commission to act in reliance upon a misrepresentation of fact known by him to be untrue, and there were no specific findings and conclusions by the commission to afford the supreme court a clear understanding that the decision was based upon false representations relevant and material to facts bearing upon the good repute and competence of the licensee in the public interest, the cause was remanded to the commission with express directions to enter proper findings of fact and conclusions of law, together with a final order. Padilla v. Real Estate Comm'n, 1987-NMSC-056, 106 N.M. 96, 739 P.2d 965.

Substantial evidence to support commission's suspension of broker's license based on Paragraph A(5). Elliott v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-078, 103 N.M. 273, 705 P.2d 679.

Broker to have knowledge of building code and zoning ordinances. — It is incumbent upon the broker to have a general knowledge of the building code and the zoning ordinances which deal with the particular property being offered for sale or which is being purchased. Amato v. Rathbun Realty, Inc., 1982-NMCA-095, 98 N.M. 231, 647 P.2d 433.

Nonresident broker may share in commission. — This section modifies Sections 61-29-1 and 61-29-16 NMSA 1978 to the extent that a nonresident broker may, in a limited situation, share in a commission. He may only do so, however, through cooperation with a New Mexico licensed broker. Hayes v. Reeves, 1977-NMSC-092, 91 N.M. 174, 571 P.2d 1177.

Generally, as to establishing custodial, trust or escrow accounts. — No regulation of the real estate commission requires a custodial, trust or escrow account prior to the receipt of funds appropriate for deposit in such account. McCaughy v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-143, 82 N.M. 116, 477 P.2d 292.

Jurisdiction where landowner claims acting as broker. — Under Section 61-29-2 NMSA 1978 if a landowner represents to either the buyer or seller that he is acting as a broker, the real estate commission has jurisdiction over the transaction. Poorbaugh v. N.M. Real Estate Comm'n, 1978-NMSC-033, 91 N.M. 622, 578 P.2d 323.

Hiring of note broker for sale of real estate contract. — Because the seller of a real estate contract, who hired a note broker to handle the sale, was not acting as a real estate broker during the sale, the commission lacked jurisdiction to revoke the seller's license for misrepresentation. Vihstadt v. Real Estate Comm'n, 1988-NMSC-003, 106 N.M. 641, 748 P.2d 14.

Applicability of Paragraph A(3) prohibition.

— The prohibition of Subsection C (now Paragraph A(3)) is applicable to a broker or salesman representing the seller of real estate giving the purchaser trading stamps, free down payments on the property, moving costs, etc., when it can be shown that the real estate broker or salesman gave one or more of the items listed to the purchaser of the property as an integral part of a transaction involving the purchase and sale of the property. 1963-64 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 63-28 (rendered prior to 1991 amendment).

Payment of commission to buyer who is not principal prohibited.

— Subsection C (now Paragraph A(3)) precludes a licensed salesman or broker from paying any portion of his commission to a buyer who is not his principal, regardless of disclosure to the principal of the arrangement. 1981 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 81-25 (rendered prior to 1991 amendment).

In order to properly make sense of the reference in Subsection C (now Paragraph A(3)) to "paying," and to give effect to the legislative intent indicated by that reference, the words "to or" may be read into that subsection preceding "from any person." 1981 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 81-25 (rendered prior to 1991 amendment).

Criminal Offender Employment Act to be followed in suspension or revocation action. — The provisions of the Criminal Offender Employment Act must be followed by the real estate commission in any action by the commission to suspend or revoke a broker's or salesperson's license because of a conviction of a felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude. 1982 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 82-02.

61-29-16. Suit by qualifying or associate broker.

No action for the collection of a commission or compensation earned by any person as a qualifying broker or an associate broker required to be licensed under the provisions of Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 shall be maintained in the courts of the state unless such person was a duly licensed qualifying broker or associate broker at the time the alleged cause of action arose. In any event, suit against a member of the public as distinguished from any person licensed under Chapter 61, Article 29 NMSA 1978 shall be maintained only in the name of the qualifying broker.

ANNOTATIONS

Section upholds legislative intent that brokers be licensed. — A person who simply brings two parties together in a real estate transaction must be licensed to sue for the recovery of a commission. To rule otherwise would be to violate the clear intent of the legislature in requiring that real estate "brokers" or salespersons be licensed. Watts v. Andrews, 1982-NMSC-080, 98 N.M. 404, 649 P.2d 472.

Texas broker barred from collecting a commission. — Where plaintiff, who was a licensed real estate broker in Texas, knew that an unlisted ranch was for sale; plaintiff and defendants, who were licensed real estate brokers in New Mexico, orally agreed to work together as co-brokers in the sale of the ranch and to share the commission on the purchase price; plaintiff and defendants never entered into a transaction-specific written agreement to share the commission; and plaintiff brought the sellers and the buyers together with the assistance of defendants, plaintiff was barred from collecting a real estate commission, because plaintiff was acting as a broker without a valid New Mexico broker's license or a written, foreign broker's agreement in violation of Section 61-29-16 NMSA 1978. PC Carter Co. v. Miller, 2011-NMCA-052, 149 N.M. 660, 253 P.3d 950.

Meaning of "arose". — The word "arose" used in this statute is used in its usual and ordinary meaning and denotes past completed action, not past continuing action. Lakeview Invs., Inc. v. Alamogordo Lake Vill., Inc., 1974-NMSC-027, 86 N.M. 151, 520 P.2d 1096.

Person claiming commission must prove license. — The statute casts no burden upon a defendant to prove absence of a license but does place upon one claiming a real estate commission the burden of establishing that he was duly licensed when the alleged cause of action arose and the inadvertent statement relative to the burden of proof in Southwest Motel Brokers, Inc. v. Alamo Hotels, Inc., 1963-NMSC-091, 72 N.M. 227, 382 P.2d 707, overruled by Star Realty Co. v. Sellers, 1963-NMSC-140, 73 N.M. 207, 387 P.2d 319.

Finding that plaintiff held license required. — A judgment for recovery of a real estate commission without a finding that the plaintiff held either a broker's or salesman's license when the cause of action arose is erroneous. Watts v. Andrews, 1982-NMSC-080, 98 N.M. 404, 649 P.2d 472.

Section prohibits action in quantum meruit to recover value of services rendered by person who is required to have license, in the absence of such license. Bank of N.M. v. Freedom Homes, Inc., 1980-NMCA-064, 94 N.M. 532, 612 P.2d 1343.

An unlicensed real estate broker or salesperson cannot recover a commission in an action in quantum meruit. Watts v. Andrews, 1982-NMSC-080, 98 N.M. 404, 649 P.2d 472.

Suit by corporation. — Since an action to recover a real estate commission may only be brought in the name of the licensed broker, evidence showing corporation may be entitled to a license, and that an officer thereof had a license, was insufficient to enable corporation to bring suit in its own name. Star Realty Co. v. Sellers, 1963-NMSC-140, 73 N.M. 207, 387 P.2d 319.

Action for breach of contract. — This section did not prevent real estate broker from maintaining action for breach of contract where broker was not licensed at time he entered into exclusive sales representation agreement with defendant but became licensed prior to breach of this agreement by defendant. Lakeview Invs., Inc. v. Alamogordo Lake Vill., Inc., 1974-NMSC-027, 86 N.M. 151, 520 P.2d 1096.

In estimating the commission on an exchange of real estate the actual and not the trade value of the property received in exchange should be taken as the basis, unless the contract of employment provides for some other basis, such as a fixed and agreed valuation of the property given in exchange. Maine v. Garvin, 1966-NMSC-140, 76 N.M. 546, 417 P.2d 40.

Allegation of licensing effective against motion to dismiss. — Allegation that the party seeking relief was licensed at the time the work or service was performed satisfies the requirements of this section as against a motion to dismiss. Lakeview Invs., Inc. v. Alamogordo Lake Vill., Inc., 1974-NMSC-027, 86 N.M. 151, 520 P.2d 1096.

In order to satisfy the requirements of this section as against a motion to dismiss, the party seeking relief must allege that he was licensed at the time the work or service was performed. Bosque Farms Home Ctr., Inc. v. Tabet Lumber Co., 1988-NMSC-027, 107 N.M. 115, 753 P.2d 894.

Parol evidence rule is fully applicable together with all the exceptions recognized in connection with any other writing in connection with written listing agreements. Parol evidence may not be received when its purpose and effect is to contradict, vary, modify or add to a written agreement, but is generally admissible to supply terms not in the written contract, to explain ambiguities in the written agreement, or to show fraud, misrepresentations or mistake. Maine v. Garvin, 1966-NMSC-140, 76 N.M. 546, 417 P.2d 40.

Compensation rule distinguished from that in fraud. — The rule applicable in determining the right of an agent to recover compensation from his principal differs from that which is applied when fraud is claimed as between a vendor and purchaser. Maine v. Garvin, 1966-NMSC-140, 76 N.M. 546, 417 P.2d 40.

61-31-6. Scope of practice. (Repealed effective July 1, 2032.)

A. For the purposes of the Social Work Practice Act, a person is practicing social work if he advertises, offers himself to practice, is employed in a position described as social work or holds out to the public or represents in any manner that he is licensed to practice social work in this state.

B. Social work practice means a professional service and emphasizes the use of specialized knowledge of social resources, social systems and human capabilities to effect change in human behavior, emotional responses and social conditions. Services may be rendered through direct assistance to individuals, couples, families, groups and community organizations. Social work practice focuses on both direct and indirect services to facilitate change on the intrapersonal, interpersonal and systemic levels. Areas of specialization that address these include but are not limited to the following:

(1) clinical social work practice, which is the professional application of social work theory and methods in the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of psychosocial dysfunction, disability or impairment, including but not limited to emotional and mental disorders. It is based on knowledge of one or more theories of human development within a psychosocial context. Clinical social work includes interventions directed to interpersonal interactions, intrapsychic dynamics or life support and management issues. Clinical social work services consist of assessment, diagnosis and treatment, including psychotherapy and counseling, client-centered advocacy, consultation and evaluation;

(2) social work research practice, which is the professional study of human capabilities and practice of social work specialties, including direct and indirect practice, through the formal organization and the methodology of data collection and the analysis and evaluation of social work data;

(3) social work community organization, planning and development practice, which is a conscious process of social interaction and method of social work concerned with the meeting of broad needs and bringing about and maintaining adjustment between needs and resources in a community or other areas; helping people to deal more effectively with their problems and objectives by helping them develop, strengthen and maintain qualities of participation, self-direction and cooperation; and bringing about changes in community and group relationships and in the distribution of decision-making power. The community is the primary client in community organizations. The community may be an organization, neighborhood, city, county, state or national entity;

(4) social work administration, which is the practice that is concerned primarily with translating laws, technical knowledge and administrative rulings into organizational goals and operational policies to guide organizational behavior; designing organizational structure and procedures or processes through which social work goals can be achieved; and securing resources in the form of material, staff, clients and societal legitimation necessary for goal attainment and organizational survival; and

(5) university social work faculty, which provides an equal quality of social work education in identified areas of content; prepares graduates to practice in a range of geographic areas with diverse populations; and establishes the foundation for practitioners' professional futures, exposing them to the best of current knowledge and developing in them the ability to continue questioning and learning, as well as an awareness of their responsibility to continue this professional development.
